

Understanding Pipeline Licensee & Owner Obligations

Course Outline:

The aim of this course is to provide participants with an understanding of Pipeline Licensee and Owner Obligations, including the Australian Standards (AS2885) and Legislation, Compliance and Supporting Systems.

With a change in industry trends from owners of high pressure hydrocarbon transmission lines being large entities who are also the operators, to “non-traditional” owners and asset management organisations, it is important for all pipeline owners to understand their responsibilities in a complex regulatory environment, and to ensure the superior safety record of the Australian Pipeline Industry is maintained.

This course will outline the requirements of various state regulatory bodies, pipeline licenses and the code AS2885, to ensure licensees and persons in charge of pipelines understand their responsibilities and recognise the networking opportunities available to them for keeping abreast of their obligations as owners of these important pieces of infrastructure.

Learning Outcomes:

- Overview of the Australian Pipeline Industry and Regulatory framework
- High level understanding of the obligations in operating a licensed pipeline
- Recognition of the importance of the Risk Management processes
- Improved understanding of safety and operating plans, expectations, support systems, documentation and reporting requirements
- Enhanced decision making ability on financial operating expenditure

Intended audience:

Engineers and Pipeline Construction Personnel working in the oil and gas industry
